"The other men attempted to dig into the collapse but could not do much due to the density of the snow and ice and danger of further falling debris."

Note that this rule can become less obvious if there is what I call “carry”